

Theophilus Garden Collective

Theophilus Garden Collective (TGC) exists to provide opportunities for our community to learn, grow, and share food together with the purpose of creating a deeper relationship to one another and the land (creation) through caring for edible gardens around the city of Portland.

Opportunities to Get Involved

- Garden Steward, general interest in learning about gardening and helping those in your community tend to their space!
- Garden Volunteer, folks without garden space who would like to be involved and get their hands dirty!
- Gardener, planting and stewarding your garden space and sharing your abundance on Sundays with the community!

Other Events

- Creation Care Community Life Group
- Monthly Classes, open to anyone interested in learning about gardening or ecotheology.
- Community Events, various opportunities to learn or get involved in the local food system!

Theophilus can provide:

- Seeds & plant starts
- Volunteers/guidance
- Connections to community resources

Want to learn more or get involved with the garden collective?

1. Visit theophiluschurch.com/garden
2. Complete the questionnaire or email garden@theophiluschurch.com
3. Follow us on instagram (@theophilusgarden)
4. On Sundays, bring your garden abundance to share with the community!

Contact
Kelsey Rairigh
Garden Ministry Director
garden@theophiluschurch.com